

FREEDOM

At last, a movie that dares to defend America's most available alternative to gasoline; ethanol. The job creating and environmentally friendly fuel has plenty of adversaries these days, but this film takes a much closer look at the truth behind the ever growing and evolving industry of ethanol.

From the filmmakers of the Sundance Award Winning film "Fuel", this new documentary movie entitled, FREEDOM offers viewers a direct look at America's dangerous addiction to oil and takes us on an intense journey to deflate three popular myths about ethanol including Food vs. Fuel, Land Use Change Theory and Ethanol's Energy Balance.

So whether you are a supporter, user or a non-believer of ethanol, we encourage you to view this compelling documentary and see if your thoughts change about the energy we use and the affects it's having on our communities, our lives, and our country.

Interested in Seeing the Movie? Visit www.thefreedomfilm.com